SECRETARY'S REPORT.

"Strengthen the purpose with all the failures of the past; encourage it by all the prospects of the future, — but never falter." — Class Oration.

CLASSMATES : —

Once more it becomes my duty to present to you, in a printed form, a brief account of what each one of us has been doing in the four years which have elapsed since the last Report was issued.

For the most part these brief biographical sketches have been prepared from the data which I received in your answers to the class circular which was sent to all of you under the date of May 1st. If any one for a moment imagines that sufficient attention has not been given to him, as he in turn passed under the pen of the Secretary, let him, before indulging in any severe judgment on the compiler of these records, ask himself how full his replies were to the questions contained in the circular alluded to. It has, of course, been my earnest effort to do justice to all. If I have failed, the failure has arisen from a defect in the head and not the heart.

To those who replied promptly and in detail I desire here to return my sincere thanks. I would also acknowledge my indebtedness to Spragne, for his valuable assistance in the preparation of the manuscript and the correction of the proofs.

During the four years, which have elapsed since the last Report was issued, death has removed from our number five more of our classmates. Davis, Odell, Braman, Huidekoper and Lawrence, have been taken from us; while of those who did not graduate with us we have lost Stedman, Pomeroy and Chaloner.

At the request of the class, the Faculty have given the degree of Bachelor of Arts to two of our number who were prevented by circumstances from receiving it before, and it is, I feel confident, a source of the greatest pleasure to all that the names of Fox and Cogswell have been transferred to the list of Graduated Members.

In my last Report I tried to present to you the lives of all who had ever been with us, no matter how trifling their connection with the class had been. There were some who, though they were with us but a very short time, yet endeared themselves to us to such a degree that the remembrance of many happy hours spent in their company is still retained among the most delightful recollections of our college days. I refer especially to those who, "when duty seemed divided against duty, chose what they thought the better part and left our side." These I tried, in 1867, to bring again into communication with the class, but, with the single exception of McElrath, I was unable to discover the whereabouts of our missing classmates.

In this report I have been more successful, and, though I have to confirm the sad report of the death of Eustis, Washington and Watkins, I am able to give a sketch of the lives of Davidson, Davis and Lyman, and to close each of their biographies with words of their own, which show that the affection and regard we feel for them is felt by them for us. May we, not hope that, at some future reunion of the class, they will again join with us in rehearsing the pleasant memories of the past and in anticipating the bright hopes of the future.

The next class supper will take place in 1872. The next Report will be published in 1874, being the decennial anniversary of our graduation.

Hoping that this Report will serve to strengthen the love we have for our class and our interest in each other's welfare,

I remain, very truly, your classmate,

W. L. RICHARDSON.

BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD

Graduated Members of the Class.

GEORGE ABBOT. He returned from Europe in September, 1867, and was engaged in the manufacture of yarns, worsted, etc., with his brother, at Westford, Mass., till the summer of 1868, when he went to New York, and accepted a position in the office of Tellkamp and Kitching Bros., wool-dealers.

He is a member of the Waverley Club.

FREDERIC POPE ANDERSON. Having retired from business, he entered the Miami Medical College of Cincinnati, where he received the Degree of Doctor of Medicine, February, 1871. The year preceding his graduation he was Resident Physician at the "Cincinnati Hospital." Soon after graduation he was appointed Medical Officer at the "Good Samaritan Hospital."

WILLIAM HYDE APPLETON. He left Boston in the fall of 1866, and began the study of law in the office of Judge R. W. Greene, in Providence, Rhode Island, where he remained for two years, at the end of which time he was admitted a member of the Rhode Island Bar. In September, 1868, he went to Cambridge, having received an appointment in the College as tutor in Greek. This position he held for two years. During the first year he was also a member of the Harvard Law School, and in July, 1869, he received the degree of LL.B. In July, 1870, he sailed for Europe, and since September of that year has resided in Berlin, being a student in the University. He will probably pass the coming year in France.

JOHN WYNKOOP ATWOOD. He is still engaged in the wholesale coal business in New York, being a member of the firm of Verplanck & Atwood.

He is a member of the Union League Club and the Historical Society of New York.

JOHN PERRY BARRETT. Soon after his return to Boston from Savannah, Ga., April, 1866, he opened an office and has since been engaged in business as a wholesale flour dealer.

He was married in Philadelphia, May 11, 1868, to Lizzie Aiken Wheeler, daughter of Sarah Washburn (Winslow) and William Harrison Wheeler, of Boston.

A son, Frank Perry Barrett, was born in Boston, April 10, 1869.

JAMES EDWARD BATES. Since 1867 he has been engaged in the practice of law, in Boston, residing, however, in Cambridge, Mass.

A daughter, Maria Louisa Bates, was born March 6, 1868. His wife died, October 15, 1869.

LORING EVERETT BECKWITH. Resigning his position as Clerk in the Statistical Bureau of the Sanitary Commission, he entered the Cambridge Divinity School, September, 1867. He remained there till 1869, when he went to Europe for a six months vacation. Returning, he re-entered the Divinity School, from which he graduated in 1870.

He was married April 28, 1871, to Alice Campbell Houghton, daughter of Mary Appleton (Tilden) and George Augustus Houghton, of Cambridge. He is at present engaged, at the request of a number of the residents of Denver City, in organizing the First Unitarian Society of that city.

He is a member of a Literary Society of Cambridge, and Editor of its Magazine.

RUSSELL NEVINS BELLOWS. He remained in Europe from May 18, 1867, till about the 1st of August, 1868, when he returned to New York. The following October he received a license to preach from the "New York and Hudson River Conference of Unitarian and other Christian Churches." The following winter (1868-69), he preached in Walpole, N. H. Since then he has resided in New York. April 1, 1871, he was appointed assistant editor of the Liberal Christian.

JOHN BINNEY. He remained a student of the Berkeley Divinity School, at Middletown, Conn., till June 5, 1868, when he was ordained as Deacon. From June, 1868, to January 1, 1870, he acted as assistant minister of St. James Church, New London, Conn. May 28, 1869, he was ordained as Priest. January 1, 1870, he was made Rector of Christ Church, Norwich, Conn.

He was married at the Church of Our Saviour, Longwood, Mass., May 20, 1869, to Charlotte Bicknell Bush, daughter of Emma Bicknell (Franklin) and Samuel Leonard Bush.

JAMES THOMPSON BINBY. He entered the Cambridge Divinity School, September, 1867. He remained in the School till the summer of 1870, when he received the degree of Bachelor of Divinity, being the first who ever received this degree at Harvard. He was ordained as pastor of the First Parish in Watertown, Mass., September 22, 1870.

He was married in Boston, September 1, 1870, to Emma Gibson, daughter of Geo. M. and Francis Esten Gibson, of Boston.

JOHN ADAMS BLANCHARD. The partnership existing, under the name of "Eaton & Blanchard," having been dissolved, he continued the East India business in Boston, under his own name.

He was married at Andover, Mass., October 24, 1867, to Laura Smith Dove, daughter of John and Helen Dove.

A son, John Adams Blanchard, was born in Boston, September 24, 1869.

CHARLES ALBERT BOWERS. He died at Clinton, Mass., October 29, 1865. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

GEORGE CALLENDER BRACKETT. He is still engaged in teaching in Brooklyn, N. Y., as at last Report. He spent the Summer of 1869 in Europe, and sails again the last of the present June, to be absent about three months, as in his previous trip.

CHANDLER BALCH BRAMAN. After resigning his position as Assistant Surgeon in the army in the Spring of 1867, he returned to Brighton, where he remained till March 13, 1868, when he was again appointed Acting Assistant Surgeon. He immediately joined the command of General Sykes, in Louisiana.

He was assassinated at Baton Rouge, August 15, 1868, by Lieutenant Wm. McGee, of the 20th Infantry. His assassin had been accused of theft from another officer, and Braman, who was a friend of the latter, had taken an active interest in the affair. Upon investigation, however, nothing was proved against McGee, and Braman at once apologized for his suspicions. McGee was not satisfied, and, on the evening of the 15th of August, went to Braman's room, and, without a word of warning, shot him as he was rising from his chair. He ran to a Hospital tent, where he was placed on a bed and immediately expired without saying a word.

He was buried with Military and Masonic honors at the Masonic burial ground in Baton Rouge.

He was married in Terre Haute, Indiana, August 13, 1867, to Miss Cecilia O. Gage, of Terre Haute.

At a meeting of the Class, held August 29, 1868, the following resolutions were adopted :—

Resolved, That we sincerely deplore the sudden and untimely death of Dr. Chandler B. Braman, our respected and beloved classmate and friend, and desire to extend our heartfelt sympathy to the family and relatives of the deceased in their sudden and painful bereavement.

Resolved, That, since it has pleased our Heavenly Father to take from our number one whose simplicity, manliness, and open-hearted generosity, endeared him to all, we accept with resignation the heavy blow that an All-Wise Providence has inflicted upon us in pursuance of His Divine ends.

Resolved, That his early loss is especially to be regretted in view of his ardent and devoted attachment to the Profession of his choice, in which his untiring industry and gentlemanly deportment promised to make him a distinguished and valuable member.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased."

FRANKLIN LEONARD BUSH. From June, 1867, to December, 1868, he resided at Yalesville, Conn., officiating as Clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal Church. From Feb., 1869, to May, 1871, he lived in Philadelphia. He sailed for Europe in May, 1871.

He was married at St. John, New Brunswick, April 21, 1869, to Mary Walker, daughter of Anne (Woodward) and Rev. William Williams Walker, of St. John.

A daughter, Margaret Simons Bush, was born in Philadelphia, June 25, 1870.

JAMES DEARBORN BUTLER. Having begun the study of law, in the office of J. S. H. Frink, August 21, 1865, he was admitted to the New Hampshire Bar in Portsmouth, N. H., April, 1868. Since then he has resided in that city, practising his profession as a member of the firm of Frink & Butler.

The year after graduating at Harvard he held the office of Superintendent of Schools, in Nottingham.

He was married at Nottingham, N. H., June 16, 1869, to Sarah Hersey Cilley, daughter of Henrietta B. and John O. Cilley, of Nottingham.

A son, Paul Butler, was born at Portsmouth, Oct. 18, 1870.

WILLIAM HARRISON CHADSEY. Since 1867, he has been engaged in reading Law in Des Moines, Iowa, and in travelling and teaching in Montana and Utah Territories, and the States of Iowa, Nevada and California. He is at present on a visit to Washington, D. C., for the purpose of attending to some California interests and Government claims. He expects, however, soon to return to Sacramento, Cal.

HORACE PARKER CHANDLER. He remained in Chicago, as a Law Publisher, till June, 1868, when he returned to Boston. He sailed for Europe, July 28, 1868, and remained abroad till November 24th of the same year. Returning to Boston, he opened an office, January 1, 1869, as a Real Estate Broker, residing, however, in West Roxbury, Mass.

A son, Cleaveland Angier Chandler, was born, September 28, 1867.

A daughter was born February 12, 1870.

DANIELLA FOREST CHASE. In the summer of 1864, he went to Chicago, and engaged with his father in the manufacture of Confectionery, employing for the purpose machinery manufactured by themselves. During the Summer of 1867, he was engaged in making a similar set of machinery for introduction into England, and in the Fall of that year he sailed for England, to superintend the setting of it up.

While absent from America he visited the French Exposition of 1868, and also portions of Scotland.

He returned to Boston, August, 1868; since that time he has patented one or two machines to be used in connection with steam engines and boilers, and has been engaged in manufacturing the same.

JOSEPH LONGFELLOW CILLEY. He still occupies the position of Ass't Manager and Book-keeper of the Etna Iron and Nail Works, Etna, Penn.

RICHARD CODMAN. Soon after his return from Europe, he moved to West Roxbury, Mass., where he has since pursued the calling of a "Yeoman."

A daughter, Lucy Sturgis Codman, was born Feb. 17, 1869.

EDWARD RUSSELL COGSWELL. Early in the Spring of 1870, a petition, signed by more than half of the class, was handed to the Faculty, requesting them to give him the degree of A. B., as a member of the class. Accordingly at a meeting of the Faculty, held April 18, 1870, the following vote was passed: — "Voted, That E. R. Cogswell be recommended to the Corporation as a candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, as of the class of 1864."

Through some mistake his name was omitted from the list of candidates, which was presented for confirmation to the Overseers, and he did not therefore really receive his degree till 1871, although it was voted by the Faculty in 1870.

Since the last Report he has resided in Cambridge, engaged in the practice of Medicine.

A daughter, Margaret Elizabeth Cogswell, was born February 14, 1869; a son, Arthur Lambert Cogswell, was born August 6, 1870. The latter died September 24, 1870.

He is a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society and Boston Natural History Society. Since June, 1869, he has been a member of the School Committee.

EBENEZER PUNDERSON COUCH. He is living in Brooklyn, N. Y., engaged as a Chemist and Civil Engineer.

WILLIAM MUNROE COURTIS. He remained in Freiberg, Saxony, as a member of the Royal School of Mines, till May, 1868. He then travelled through various parts of Europe, and reached home September 12, 1868. He was absent in Santo Domingo from February to August, 1869, as Chief Engineer on the State Geological Survey of Santo Domingo. From April, 1870, to April, 1871, he successively filled the offices of Clerk, Paymaster and Assistant Manager of the Van Buren Furnace, situated in Shenandoah County, Virginia. In May, 1871, he went to Wyandotte, Michigan, to accept the position of Assistant Superintendent of the Wyandotte Silver Smelting and Refining Company.

In Freiberg he was a member of the Freiberg Mining Engineers' Association. At Van Buren Furnace, Va., he filled the position of Dept. Post Master. Among the "other incidents" in his life which seem proper subjects of record, especially at the present time, is the fact that, after an attack of tropical fever in Santo Domingo, he returned to this country so sick that he was ill at home five months, the result of his visit to that "Sanitarium."

[Sanitarium. "A retreat selected for valetudinarians, in consequence of its salubrity." — Vide Dunglison's Med. Dict.]

CHARLES HENRY COXE. — Having been elected by the Directors, February 13, 1867, Professor of Rhetoric, History, &c., in Girard College, Philadelphia, he held that position till December 30, 1870, when he resigned.

Since then he has been engaged in reading Law. He is a member of the Union League Club, Philadelphia.

GEORGE GLOVER CROCKER. September 10, 1867, he was appointed a Justice of the Peace for Suffolk County, Mass. He was admitted to the Circuit Court, October 15, 1867. He moved his office, February, 1871, from Court Street to Pemberton Square.

He has taken up as a specialty Conveyancing and Real Property Law. He is one of the authors of a Law-book entitled — "Notes on the General Statutes of Massachusetts. U. H. & G. G. Crocker. Boston. 1869."

He is one of the Directors of the Boston Young Men's Christian Union.

PRENTISS CUMMINGS. October, 1866, he received the appointment of Tutor in Latin, in Harvard University, a position which he held till March, 1870. He then resigned and immediately began the study of Law. He was admitted to the Bar May 3, 1871. He spent the summers of 1868 and 1869, travelling in Europe.

MARSHALL MUNROE CUTTER. Having left the Andover Theological Seminary he was ordained as minister of a church at Ashland, Mass., December 29, 1868.

He was married at Cambridge, September 23, 1868, to Ellen Phebe Holman, daughter of Phoebe Taylor (Phillips) and John Holman, of Cambridge.

A son, Winthrop Holman, was born at Cambridge, July 15, 1869. His son died at Cambridge, August 2, 1869.

At the Andover Theological Seminary he was President and Conductor of the Lockhart Society (musical). During the Peace Jubilee, held in Boston, during the Fall of 1869, he was President of the quota furnished to the Festival Chorus by the town of Ashland. He is Vice President of the Ashland Temperance Alliance, and President of the Ashland Library Association.

In 1870 he was elected a member of the School Committee of the town of Ashland. He held the position of Secretary of the Board, 1870-71, and is now Chairman.

CONSTANT FREEMAN DAVIS. About the first of July, 1867, he sailed from Charlestown in the sloop-of-war "Guerriere" (the flag-ship of the South American squadron) as Secretary to his father, Rear Admiral Davis, who was on his way to take command of the squadron.

His health, which had not been good for some time past, soon began to fail. For several weeks before his death it was evident that he had not long to live. He was, however, able to go about the ship until within a few days of his death, and he kept up a regular course of reading until the very last. He failed rapidly and at length died of consumption, at Rio Janeiro, December 12, 1867. "He was conscious to the end, but was calm and resigned, and died with perfect trust in God."

At a meeting of the class held January 27, 1868, at 13 Bulfinch Street, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has seemed fit to Almighty God to remove by death our friend and classmate, Constant Freeman Davis:

Resolved, That, while by his early death we have suffered a loss which is grievous and irreparable, there still remains to us the most comfortable and holy memory of his strong and honorable character, of a pure heart, of a sympathy ever extended to all his associates, of a sweet forgetfulness of self, of manliness and faith unshaken by disease—the remembrance of that noble and living nature that had made him the friend of each of us.

Resolved, That although his great influence for good was always exerted unconsciously, it was felt by all with whom he was thrown in contact, that they were made better and purer, more hopeful for the future, and more strong and patient for the present by such intercourse.

Resolved, That we unite with heartfelt sympathy in the grief of his family and friends, and deplore with them the loss of a loved son and brother, a faithful friend and Christian gentleman."

RICHARD HENRY DERBY. He sailed for Europe, May 8, 1867, having, by special permission, passed satisfactorily the customary medical examinations May 4, which entitled him to receive, July, 1867, the degree of Doctor of Medicine. He remained abroad till the summer of 1870, engaged in the study of his profession principally at Dresden, Vienna, Berlin, Paris and London.

In Berlin he was appointed (November, 1869) Assistant of Prof. A. v. Graefe. Returning to America, he went to New York to practise. December 5, 1870, he was admitted to the Medical Society of the City and County of New York. Jan. 9, 1871, he was chosen Secretary of the New York Ophthalmological Society. January 23, 1871, he was appointed Ophthalmic Surgeon to the Demilt Dispensary. March 21, 1871, he was appointed Ophthalmic Surgeon to the New York Dispensary. He is a member of the New York Medical Library and Journal Association (1870), the New York Ophthalmological Society (Dec. 12, 1870), and the Mass. Med. Soc. (Oct. 18, 1870).

He is the author of a memoir "Zur Anatomie von Prurigo," published in Vienna, 1869, under the direction of Prof. Biesiadcki; also of various translations for Vienna, New York and Boston Medical Journals, and an article on "Color Blindness and its acquisition through the abuse of Alcohol and Tobacco." (N. Y. Med. Jour., March, 1871.)

JOHN ALVAREZ DILLON. He returned from Europe September, 1867. Soon after his arrival in St. Louis he was elected Secretary of the Illinois and St. Louis Bridge Company, an office which he still retains.

Two daughters (Grace Mary and Maude Mary Dillon) were born in St. Louis, August 25, 1868. A son, Arthur James Dillon, was born in the same city, December 3, 1869.

JONATHAN DORR. Is still engaged in the leather business, although the partnership which was formed October 1, 1866, under the firm of Norton & Dorr, has been dissolved.

He was married in Roxbury, September 17, 1867, to Anne Isabella Kennedy, daughter of Ann (Colgate) and Donald Kennedy, of Roxbury. A son, Tileston Dorr, was born in Dorchester, Mass., April 23, 1870.

JOHN LORING ELDRIDGE. Is still engaged in the practice of Law in Boston.

JAMES HENRY ELLIOT. He opened an office for the practice of Law in New York, June 1, 1868.

He is a member of the Waverley Club.

WOODWARD EMERY. He was admitted to the Suffolk Bar, July 1867, and since then has been practising Law in Boston, residing however in Cambridge, being a member of the firm of Hubbard & Emery.

WILLIAM CHANDLER FABENS. He has remained in Lynn, Mass., engaged in the practice of Law since 1867, with the exception of about eight months (April — December, 1870), during which time he was absent in Nebraska.

GEORGE HENRY FALES. He has resided in East Boston most of the time since 1867. His health being poor he has been obliged, for the present at least, to give up the study of medicine.

ORLANDO MARCELLUS FERNALD. He still retains his position as Classical Teacher in City High School in Springfield, Mass.

ALBERT LEVI FISK. He remained in Cambridge, as assistant in Chemistry, till April, 1868, when he went to Lowell. He remained there till November, 1869, as chemist of the Merrimac Print Works. He resigned March 1, 1870, having previously (November, 1869) been compelled to go to Minnesota on account of failing health.

He was married in Lowell, September 1, 1869, to Josephine Louise Taggart, daughter of Caroline (Quimby) and Leander Taggart, of Lowell. A daughter, Meta Fisk, was born in Anoka, Minn., December 21, 1870.

He was elected a member of the School Committee in Lowell for two years from January 1, 1869.

REGINALD HEBER FITZ. Having remained as House Physician at the Boston City Hospital a year, he re-entered the Harvard Medical School, April 1, 1868, and received the degree of Doctor of Medicine the following commencement. He sailed for Europe July 21, 1868. Having spent the summer in Dresden, he went to Vienna to pursue the study of his profession. He remained in Europe two years, studying chiefly in Vienna and Berlin.

On his return to America in 1870, he opened an office in Boston for the practice of medicine. Soon after his return he was appointed Microscopist of the Massachusetts General Hospital, and later Instructor of Pathological Anatomy in the Harvard Medical School.

He is a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society, Boston Society of Medical Sciences and Boston Society for Medical Observation.

ISAAC FLAGG. He held the position of Tutor in Greek in Harvard University till November, 1869, when he resigned and soon after sailed for Europe. He spent the winter of 1870-1 as a student in the University of Berlin. In the spring of 1871, he went to Göttingen, where he is studying at present.

He was married in North Cambridge, July 22, 1867, to Mary Jane Lynes. A daughter, Edith Flagg, was born in Cambridge, August 25th, 1869. A daughter, Mabel Flagg, was born in Berlin, February 10, 1871.

He received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Göttingen, in the Spring of 1871.

CHARLES WILLIAM FOX. [In accordance with the request contained in a petition of the class presented to the Faculty, he received his degree of Bachelor of Arts at the commencement of 1869. The vote of the Faculty (May 31, 1869), which recommended him for the degree of A.B., also recommended that it should be given him "as of the class of 1864."]

He remained in Europe till November, 1868, when he returned home. He went to New York, and opened an office as a physician, December, 1869. He removed to Philadelphia, November, 1870, where he is now practising his profession.

WM. MERCHANT RICHARDSON FRENCH. He has pursued without interruption his profession as a Civil Engineer. Was connected with the office of J. H. Shedd, Civil Engineer, Boston, up to the spring of 1867. April 4, 1867, left Boston for Chicago, and entered the office of Samuel S. Greeley, City Surveyor, in that city. Made headquarters there, engaged upon work in Illinois, Iowa and Indiana, until July 27th of the same year. Went then to New Albany, Ind., as an Assistant upon a survey for a proposed ship-canal around the Falls of the Ohio, under the direction of Gen. Weitzel, U. S. Engineers. Remained there until about the end of February, 1868, returned to Boston and re-entered the office of Mr. Shedd, in spring or early summer. Went to Chicago again about April 15, 1869, intending to open an independent engineering office, but accepted a position as Assistant Engineer in the office of the Board of Public Works, Chicago, May 1, 1869, and held it until May 1, 1870, when he opened an independent office, 18 Shepard Building. He spent most of the summer at Indianapolis, upon professional business, and a part of the winter in Massachusetts, and formed a co-partnership with H. W. S. Cleveland, Esq., March 1, 1871, under the style of "Cleveland & French, Landscape Architects and Engineers, 16 and 18 Shepard Building, Chicago."

He has been a member of the "Engineers Club of the Northwest," for the last year or two. He has written several professional papers for journals or societies, and a short pamphlet on the "Relation of Engineering to Landscape Gardening." He writes that "the rest of his life, however interesting it may have been to himself, contains little of importance to the general public. He has suffered from no severe sickness, and has broken no bones, — he has attended the ordinary number of weddings and funerals, has run off the track on railway trains once or twice, and is now in good health and spirits, tolerably prosperous in business and bidding fair to realize the prayer of the prophet, for neither poverty nor riches."

MAURICE GODDARD. He was admitted to the Bar, September, 1867. In the Fall of the same year he opened a Law office in Boston, with Eldridge. He afterwards, however, opened an office by himself in another part of the same city. He lives in Brookline.

ARTHUR GORHAM. He remained in the store of James L. Gorham & Co., Boston, till the spring of 1871, when he started on a "voyage of exploration out West." He is at present in Minneapolis, Minnesota, engaged in land operations.

FRANCIS GORHAM. He remained in Billerica, Mass., as Principal of the Howe School, till July, 1868. He then moved to Cambridge, where he is engaged as a teacher in Mr. Noble's school for boys.

LA ROY SUNDERLAND GOVE. May 1, 1868, he moved from 74 to 60 Wall street, and subsequently to 7 Warren street, New York, where he is engaged in the practice of Law.

He is a member of the New York Historical Society, Union League Club, Harvard Club and Waverley Club.

HORACE GRAVES. He left Boston soon after his admission to the Massachusetts Bar (January, 1867), and was admitted to the New York Bar, June, 1867. He immediately began the practice of Law in New York, residing in Brooklyn since January, 1868.

He was married January 1, 1868, at Cambridge, to Annie Adelia Hall, daughter of Mary and James Henry Hall, of Cambridge, Mass. A son, Frank Pierpont Graves, was born in Brooklyn, July 23, 1869.

CHARLES PELHAM GREENOUGH. In August, 1864, he was appointed Captain's Clerk on board the United States Steamer "Vanderbilt," and took part in the blockade of Halifax and Wilmington. From November, 1864, to September, 1865, he remained quietly at home studying and recruiting his health, which at that time was not very good. From September, 1865, till November, 1866, he was engaged as a private tutor, and also devoted himself to the study of the Spanish language. In November, 1866, he sailed from New York in the barque "Fanny Lewis," for Smyrna, and passed the winter in the East, visiting Malta, the Nile, the Second Cataract, Red Sea, Jerusalem, Dead Sea, Damascus, Constantinople, Athens, and Corinth. Passing, on his return journey, through Italy, Switzerland, France and Great Britain, he reached home July, 1867.

He entered the Harvard Law School, October, 1867, and remained there as a student till May, 1869, when he entered the office of Messrs. Ropes & Gray. Passing the regular examination he was admitted to the Suffolk bar, November, 1869, having taken the degree of LL. B., at Cambridge, the preceding July. January 1, 1870, he entered into a partnership for one year with Hon. R. M. Morse, Jr., and was appointed Justice of the Peace in the same month, and a Commissioner for the State of Illinois, a few months later. January 1, 1871, he entered into a new partnership for the practice of the law with Messrs. Morse & Stone, under the name of "Morse, Stone & Greenough."

In the autumn of 1870, he was appointed one of the Committee of the Academical Department of Harvard University. In March, 1871, he was appointed one of the Committee of fifty of the Boston Art Museum. He is also Auditor of the Quincy Episcopal Church.

CHARLES WILLARD ILAGAR. In the fall of 1864, he entered into partnership with his brother in the Paper and Twine business in Boston. He is still occupied in the same business, having moved however his office from 32 Water to 82 Devonshire street.

CHARLES HENRY HILDRETH. Soon after his return from Washington in 1866, he entered the office of Sweetser & Gardner in Boston, to pursue the study of the Law. He was admitted to the bar December 19, 1867. In the spring of 1868, he opened an office in Charlestown, Mass. Early in 1871, he removed to New York, where he proposes to continue the practice of his profession. Before leaving Charlestown, he was appointed a Justice of the Peace for Middlesex County.

ALMON DANFORTH HODGES. He remained in Freiberg, Saxony, as a student of the Royal Saxon Mining Academy till July, 1868. He then travelled through Silesia, Bohemia, Saxony, the Hartz, Rhine Provinces, Belgium, France, England, Scotland and Wales. He reached home October 22, 1868. He remained in Boston till June, 1869. He then travelled West through the mining regions of Colorado, Utah and Nevada, to California. Since September, 1869, he has resided in San Francisco. After filling a position as clerk in a bank for a short time, he was made editor of the San Francisco "Scientific Press."

EDWIN TEMPLE HORNE. After leaving his position as teacher in the Adams School, Dorchester, he was appointed Principal of the Harris School, a position which he still holds. A daughter was born June 9, 1871.

SAMUEL DANA HORTON. In the fall of 1866, he entered the Harvard Law School. He received the degree of LL.B., July 15, 1868; having resided, however, three months of the spring of 1868 in Cambridge, as a Resident Graduate. He left New York, September 1, 1868, and passing through Switzerland, where he sprained his knee, was matriculated the following October as a student of Jurisprudence in the University of Berlin. He remained there till March, 1869. He then went to Italy, where he remained till August. While there his knee was cured after "a long course of medical mal-practice, and six months and more of lameness." He spent the summer of 1869 in Switzerland and South Germany, and, towards the end of October, resumed the study of the History of Roman Law and Continental Political History, at Berlin. He left there in April, 1870, and returned to America. From May, 1870, till January, 1871, he remained in Pomeroy, Ohio, with the exception of "a summer's excursion made among the tribes that infest the Atlantic coast." January 1, 1871, he was admitted to the bar at Columbus, Ohio. Immediately afterwards he began the practice of law in Cincinnati. He is a member of the Cincinnati Literary Club, the Central Republican Association of Hamilton County, and the Historical and Philosophical Society of Ohio. During the elections of 1870, he made campaign speeches in the German language, four being delivered in Michigan County, Ohio, and one in West Virginia: and he especially congratulates himself that at the latter he "was not 'rocked' as a distinguished predecessor was."

CHARLES LANGLEY HOWE. No answer was received from him to the class-circulars issued May 1, 1867, or May 1, 1871.

EDWARD ROBBINS HOWE. He remained as a member of the Royal Saxon School of Mines in Freiberg, Saxony, till September, 1867, when he went to Paris and entered the École des Mines, where he pursued his studies from October, 1867, to June, 1868. He then travelled about and arrived in Cambridge, Mass., August, 1868. From January to June, 1869, he resided in Pomeroy, Ohio, occupied most of the time as Superintendent of the Pomeroy rolling-mill and nail-factory. He then left Pomeroy and reached San Francisco, August, 1869. He accepted the position of bookkeeper in the office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, December, 1869.

*HERMAN JOHN HUIDEKOPER. After receiving his commission, March 23, 1865, as Major of the 29th Regiment, U. S. C. T., he took an honorable part in General Sherman's last Campaign, and soon after was transferred to Texas, where he remained doing frontier duty till the close of his term of service. Immediately after his return from the army, he engaged in the woolen manufacture at Meadville, Penn., being connected with the firm of H. S. & F. W. Huidekoper. In March, 1868, he was attacked with a slight hemorrhage from the lungs, which was the first intimation his friends had of declining health. Though seeming to recover, a second attack followed in June, which so prostrated him that he was unable to leave home until the last of August. He then went to St. Paul, Minnesota, in the hope that a change of climate would relieve him. Encouraging reports were received from him until his death, which occurred very suddenly, October 21, 1868.

At a meeting of the class held in Boston, February 6, 1869, the following resolutions were adopted:—

“Whereas, It has seemed best to our Heavenly Father again to diminish our number, by calling to Himself our beloved classmate, Hui-dekoper.

Resolved, That we shall ever cherish in our own journey through life the example of patience, cheerfulness and courage which he has left to us, shown so clearly, notwithstanding his ever present shyness and reserve, during his whole course in College, and ever more clearly still in after years, in the service of his country, for which he has now made the last great offering of his life.

Resolved, That in our own sorrow for a comrade, we would remember his family in their greater grief for a son and brother, and would tender them our sincere sympathy and condolence.”

GEORGE PUTNAM HUNTINGTON. Having entered the Berkeley Divinity School, in Middletown, Conn., in October, 1866, he remained there as a student till April 16, 1868, when he was ordained as a Deacon in the Episcopal Church. The same month he took charge of St. Paul's Parish in Malden, Mass., and was elected and consecrated to the rectorship, April 9, 1869. Since 1869, he has held the position of Treasurer of the Eastern District Missionary Association, of Massachusetts.

RALPH CROSS JOHNSON. In the fall of 1867, soon after his return from Europe, he entered the law office of George S. Hale, in Boston, as a law student. He remained there till late in the Spring of 1868. Since then he has pursued the study of the law with occasional intervals, during which he has made journeys through the South and California. He was admitted to the bar in Maine, October, 1868.

He was married, June 22, 1871, to Margaret Atherton Nichols, daughter of Sarah (Atherton) and George Henry Nichols, of Boston.

GEORGE GOLDING KENNEDY. Soon after leaving the Harvard Medical School in 1867, he entered into a partnership with his father for the manufacture of medicines, in which business he is at present engaged.

A son, Donald Kennedy, was born December 5, 1867. He lived, however, only a few months, and died September 3, 1868.

A son was also born, March 31, 1871.

*GARDNER WHITNEY LAWRENCE. In April, 1866, he opened a law office at 33 School Street, Boston.

February 23, 1868, he took a severe cold, which grew worse until March 1st, when he left his office for a week. At the expiration of that time he returned to the city and remained till April 1st, when his cough again compelled him to give up work. During the summer and fall he remained at home taking such out-door exercise as he was able, and at length began to feel considerably better. As the winter approached, his cough returned and he began to fail rapidly. He died at Concord, February 27, 1869.

He was married, September 3, 1868, to Mary E. Ryder, of West Bridgewater.

At a meeting of the class held March 20, 1869, the following resolutions were adopted:—

"Whereas, Our classmate, Gardner W. Lawrence, has, in the dispensation of an all-wise Providence, been taken from us by death.

Resolved, That we bear within our hearts a deep respect for the substantial worth that formed the ground-work of his nature—his clear intellect, his unassuming disposition, his strict integrity and the high moral purpose which governed his whole life.

Resolved, That we extend this expression of our sympathy to his afflicted wife and relatives, in this hour of their bereavement and sorrow."

CHANNING LILLY. After receiving his degree at the Lawrence Scientific School, July, 1867, he returned to his home in Baltimore, where (March, 1868,) he formed a partnership with his brother, as Importers and Jobbers of Druggists' Sundries and Fancy Goods. January, 1870, he became a member of the firm of P. Ware, Jr. & Co., Manufacturers of Boots and Shoes, in Boston. In May, 1870, he left Baltimore and moved to Newton, Mass., where he now resides.

ROBERT TODD LINCOLN. He still resides in Chicago, engaged in the practice of the law. The partnership of Scammon & Lincoln was dissolved some time since.

He had been previously admitted to the bar at Springfield, Ill., about January 25, 1869. He began the practice of law, March 1, 1870, at Quincy, Ill.

ARTHUR WARE MERRIAM. He entered into a partnership, February, 1, 1870, with James R. Walker, for the purpose of carrying on a general Banking Business in Boston, under the name of Walker & Merriam.

GEORGE BLISS MORRIS. April 29, 1867, he left Springfield, Mass., and arriving in New York, entered the office of Bliss & Cadwalader. He was admitted to the New York Bar, about December 15, 1867. He afterwards became a member of the firm of Morris & Merriman, Attorneys and Counsellors at Law. He was appointed Commissioner for Massachusetts in New York, January 11, 1868; Notary Public, May 5, 1868. At various elections he held the office of Registrar, Inspector and Canvasser.

WILLIAM ADAMS MUNROE. In September, 1866, he entered the Harvard Law School, where he remained one year. He then read law till January 1, 1868, when he entered the office of George C. Shattuck, Boston, where he remained as a law student till July, 1868, when he was admitted to the Bar. He then practised till February 9, 1870, when he became a member of the law firm of Shattuck & Munroe. In November, 1869, he was elected a member of the School Committee of Cambridge, to fill a vacancy. He was re-elected in December, 1869, and again in December, 1870, the present term expiring in December, 1873.

SAMUEL BADGER NEAL. In 1867, he left the employ of J. W. Atwood, coal merchant in New York, and arriving in Boston, accepted the position of book-keeper in the house of Bangs & Horton, Wholesale Coal Merchants.

WILLIAM ALBERT ODELL. He was admitted to the New Hampshire bar, February 16, 1867. In May he was attacked with a hemorrhage from the lungs and was consequently obliged to give up going to California where he had hoped to practise his profession. His health rapidly declined till December 18, 1867, when he died at Dover, N.H.

At a meeting of the class, held December 28th, the following resolutions were adopted :

" Since it has pleased a mysterious Providence to remove by death William Albert Odell, a classmate of character, ability and promise :

Resolved, That we tender his relatives and friends our earnest sympathy on account of the untimely death which has cut him off too soon to take that position among men which his ambition coveted and his power and perseverance would have won."

PETER BUTLER OLNEY. He was admitted to the Boston bar, March, 1866, and to the New York bar in November of the same year. He is at present engaged in the practice of his profession in New York. He is a member of the Waverley Club.

JOHN OWEN. No answer was received from him to the class-circulars issued May 1, 1867, or May 1, 1871.

*ISAAC HOWARD PAGE. He died at Tewksbury, Mass., March 2, 1866. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

WILLIAM ROBERTSON PAGE. The summer of 1867 he spent in Europe. Returning in September he resumed the practice of his profession in Chicago.

*EDWARD STANLEY ABBOT. He died at Gettysburg, Penn., July 8, 1863. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

JOHN CLARK BARNARD. With the exception of a few months spent in Europe, he has resided, since 1866, in Worcester, Mass., being engaged in business in that city.

*FITZHUGH BIRNEY. He died in Washington, June 17, 1864. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

GEORGE NIXON BLACK. He still remains in the office of his father, Mr. George N. Black, in Boston, being engaged in the management of Real Estate.

EDWARD RICHMOND BLANCHARD. Nothing has been heard of him since 1865.

LOWELL JOHNSON BULLARD. Nothing definite has been heard of him since 1863. He was reported some time since to be practising law in San Francisco, Cal.

*EDWARD DILLAWAY CHALONER. At the close of the war he entered the Episcopal Divinity School at Cambridge. His health, however, soon gave out and he left the school and went to Minnesota in the hope of deriving benefit from a change of climate. He only survived the journey about two weeks, and died at Faribault, Minn., about the middle of May, 1868.

*EDWIN CHAPIN. He died in Baltimore, August 1, 1863. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

*HENRY CLINTON COREY. He died at New York, in the fall of 1864. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

*FRANCIS WELCH CROWNINSHIELD. He died at Albano, near Rome, May 21, 1866. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

EDWARD WEST CURRIER. He left the class during the second term of the Freshman year. He entered Amherst College soon after and received the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1865. He is at present residing in New York, engaged in business as a Print Publisher, a member of the firm of Currier & Ives.

NATHAN CUTLER. He entered the Army as a private and was appointed 1st Lieut. and Adj. of the 28th Reg. Me. Vols., October 6, 1862. He was mustered out with the regiment, August 31, 1863. He was appointed 1st Lieut. and Adj. of the 2d Reg. Me. Cavalry, November 16, 1863, and went with the regiment to Pensacola, Fla. Was promoted to Major, June 4, 1864. In the raid under Gen. Ashboth into Florida, he led the charge into Mariana and was wounded nine times. When the troops retreated he was left on the field. After he had sufficiently recovered, he was taken to one of the rebel prisons and remained there a year or more. He was mustered out with his regiment December 6, 1865. In October, 1866, he was appointed Secretary and Treasurer of the U. S. Military Asylum at Augusta, Me. In March, 1867, he was appointed Deputy Governor of the Asylum. June, 1869, he was appointed Governor of the Asylum and Commandant of the three branches at Dayton, O., Milwaukee, Wis., and Augusta, Me. This position he held till the latter part of 1869, when he resigned on account of ill health arising from his wounds.

He was Aid-de-Camp to Governor Chamberlain, with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel until the expiration of the Governor's term in January, 1871. He then went to Albany, Ga., with the hope of recovering his health. He now resides in New York.

SPENCER DAVIDSON. He remained in Baltimore until September, 1867, when he went to Winchester Va., where he had been admitted to the Bar, June, 1867. He remained there until September, 1869, when he went to Staunton, Va., where he at present resides, engaged in teaching, and also practising law.

He closes his letter containing the above facts as follows :
 " Please give my kindest regards to all of our classmates, with the assurance that the old associations are by no means yet forgotten."

He was married in Baltimore, September 9, 1869, to Laura L. Burwell, daughter of P. C. L. Burwell, of Winchester, Va. A daughter, Laura Lee Davidson, was born August 10, 1870.

GEORGE WASHINGTON DAVIS. He left College in April, 1861, under leave of absence, and his connection with the College was not finally severed until the beginning of the Sophomore year, when he finally concluded not to return to Cambridge. He went home with the intention of joining the army, but Missouri delayed taking any decisive action so long, that, before anything was done in which he could take a part, the whole section of the country in which he lived was overrun by Union forces, to whom the sympathies of his family were well known, and by whom, on that account, he was arrested, and offered the choice between a military prison and a parole of honor not to engage in the war against the government. He accepted the latter, and so took subsequently no part in the war. Being thus deterred from going into the army, and being almost compelled to give up all hopes of continuing his College career, he began the study of the law, and was admitted to the Bar in Canton, Mo., August, 1863.

On being admitted to the Bar he formed a partnership with his instructor; but the practice amounted to nothing—inter arma leges silent—and in September, 1864, he went to St. Louis, and there formed a partnership with a kinsman of his own name. He practised there till September, 1865, when the new constitution of Missouri went into effect, one provision of which required lawyers, before they could practise in the courts, to swear that they had never been in sympathy with the Rebellion. "Not being of an easy conscience," he went to East St. Louis, a growing town in Illinois opposite to St. Louis, Mo., intending, when he could, to return. By the time, however, that the courts had decided against the validity of the oath, he had obtained such a practice that, thinking his prospects better where he was, he decided to remain. He has accordingly continued to practise law in East St. Louis to the present time.

He was married at Canton, Mo., November 10, 1863, to Isabelle Ellison, daughter of Martha (Cowgill) and James Ellison, of Canton. A daughter, Helen Davis, was born in Canton, July 9, 1864. A son, Thomas Jefferson Davis, was born in St. Louis, September 1, 1865. Helen Davis died July 6, 1865, in St. Louis, and Thomas Jefferson Davis died in East St. Louis, September 2, 1866.

He writes that he has been an invalid for the last fifteen months, and that even now, though fast improving, is far from well. He closes his long and interesting letter with an expression of the most "affectionate regard for his classmates, very unhappily brief but most delightful associations with whom will always be among his most sacred and most cherished recollections." He expresses great pleasure at being again brought into "communication with so many loved friends," and adds "if I am to take your kind utterances as expressions of the feeling of the class, then I shall always enjoy the assurance that, however far apart our different paths in life may lead us, as each goes on his way through the world, men whom I regard, regard me with equal warmth of affection, and that, as long as I live, there will be kind recollections entertained of me by men, a place in whose thoughts I covet beyond almost any other possession."

CHAUNCEY CHILD DEAN. Soon after the close of the war he was appointed one of the Deputy State Constables of Massachusetts. This position he still holds. He is a member of Washington Lodge, Mt. Vernon Royal Arch Chapter, Roxbury Council of Select and Royal Masters, Joseph Warren Commandery of Knights Templars; also Post 15, G. A. R.

* RICHARD EUSTIS. He died at Raleigh, N. C., May, 1865. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

* CHARLES ADAMS FAULKNER. He died at Cambridge, March 16, 1861. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

CHARLES FRANCIS. Nothing has been heard from him since 1867.

PERLEY MORSE GRIFFIN. Leaving Harvard at the May recess, 1861, he sought at once to enter the army, and accordingly left Boston June 14, (?) 1861, in company with the 1st Regt. M. V. M., though not sworn in. On arriving at the seat of war he was induced to join Co. K., 9th Regt., New York State Militia. He was sworn into the service at Washington, June 29, 1861. He served under Gen. Hooker until the end of the Peninsula Campaign, being a member of the 6th Independent N. Y. Battery. After the Peninsula Campaign, the battery was transformed into a "Flying Artillery," being known as Horse Battery, 6th Independent N. Y. He was in the battles of Williamsburg, Malvern Hill, Chancellorsville, Kelly's Ford, Wilderness, Cold Harbor, Gettysburg and Mine Run. He left the army June 29, 1864, as he expresses it, "without a scratch—except a kick from a horse, and that was a bruise."

September, 1864, he returned to the seat of war as a clerk in the Quarter-master's Department at City Point, Va. He remained there till August, 1865. In October he started for the West, and from November, 1865, till September, 1866, he was engaged in the Express Business at Topeka, Kansas. He then entered Lincoln (now Washburn) College, at Topeka, as a Sophomore. He graduated June 25, 1869. He then came to Andover, Mass., and entered the Theological Seminary, where he still remains as a student of Theology.

He was married at Topeka, Kan., July 20, 1869, to Eva Jane Huntoon, daughter of Ellen Sanger (Richardson) and Joel Huntoon. A son was born at Andover, Mass., May 10, 1870. He died May 14, 1870.

WALTER WHITNEY HAMMOND. He graduated at the Newton Theological Seminary, June 25, 1868. He received an unanimous call to the pastorage of the Pierrepont Street Baptist Church in Brooklyn, May 1, 1868. He accepted and was installed September 10, 1868. He remained in Brooklyn, till January 1, 1871, when he was made pastor of the Bergen Baptist Church, Jersey City. He is a member of the Board of the American Bible Union, Life-manager of the American Baptist Publication Society, and Vice-President of the Baptist Missionary Convention, of the State of New York.

HORACE BINNEY HARE. He received the degree of Doctor of Medicine, March, 1866, from the University of Pennsylvania. From October, 1866, to April, 1868, he was one of the Resident Physicians in the Pennsylvania Hospital. He was elected, October, 1870, Pathological Chemist of the same Hospital. December, 1870, he was chosen one of the Physicians to the Hospital of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Philadelphia. He is a member of the College of Physicians of Philadelphia, the Pathological Society of Philadelphia and the Academy of Natural Sciences.

He was married in Philadelphia, September 15, 1868, to Emily Power Beale, daughter of Mary Ann (Tillinghast) and Truxtum Dixon Beale, of Washington.

A son, Robert Hare, was born in Philadelphia, July 5, 1869.

SULLIVAN HASLETT. In June, 1868, he received the degree of Civil Engineer from the University of the City of New York. He is at present engaged as one of the Assistant Engineers on the "Lyman Viaduct," on the "Air Line" to Boston. His headquarters are at East Hampton, Conn.

EDWARD BELKNAP HAVEN. He is still engaged as a Clerk in the House of Russell & Sturgis, Manilla.

FREDERIC BARNARD HAWLEY. Nothing has been heard from him since 1867.

SYDNEY HEATH. He still remains engaged in the Boot and Shoe Business in Boston.

JAMES NEVILLE HEDGES. He died at Circleville, Ohio, February 16, 1863. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

FRANKLIN THEODORE HOWE. In August, 1869, he resigned his position in the Bureau of Military Justice, in order to accept a more lucrative position in the Internal Revenue Department. During the season of 1869-70, he was connected with the "National Republican," as Dramatic and Musical Critic, and, during the season of 1870-1, he held a similar position on the editorial staff of the "Washington Daily Chronicle." The latter position he still retains. He assisted in forming and was one of the charter members of the "Washington Choral Society." He is also a member of the Alumni Society of the Georgetown Medical College, and Post 14, G. A. R.

A son, George Alpha Howe, was born August 6, 1867, and a daughter, Catharine Lay Howe, October 10, 1868.

JAMES GORE KING. He died in New York, July 22, 1862. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

FRANK KNIGHT. He is engaged, as at the time of the last Report, in the Lumber business, at Charlestown, Mass. He is a member of Post 11, G. A. R.

WILLIAM ROSCOE LIVERMORE. After holding his brevet commission as Second Lieutenant in the Regular Army for some time, he was appointed June 23, 1865, 1st Lieutenant in the U. S. Engineers. At present, he is stationed at Detroit, being engaged on the Lake Survey. He stands fourth on the list of First Lieutenants.

FREDERIC LOCKWOOD. He has been engaged in the Brokerage business since the last report was issued.

WILLIAM REMSON LYMAN. He left the class at the close of the first term of the Freshman year and entered the Southern Army in Virginia, in 1861, as a drill officer, with the rank of Second Lieutenant. He was ordered to West Virginia, and was in the Laurel Hill retreat, and the first battle of the war between Garnett and McClellan. He was discharged in the fall of 1861, and remained at home sick with fever, till May, 1862, when he was elected 1st Lieutenant in the 31st Virginia Infantry. Promoted Captain at Port Republic in June, 1862. Served under Stonewall Jackson and was in the battles of McDowell, 1st Winchester, Strausburg, Cross Keys, Port Republic, Seven days fight around Richmond, Cedar Mountains, 2nd Manassas, Chantilly, Harper's Ferry, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Rappahannock Bridge, and every engagement of the corps excepting Chancellorsville. Was under Ewell at 2nd Winchester and Gettysburg. He resigned from the Infantry in the spring of 1864, and entered Stuart's Horse Artillery as a private. Was in the fights at Wilderness, Spottsylvania Court House and all of the battles of that campaign in Virginia. Was made Captain of Artillery about two weeks before the surrender of Lee.

At the close of the war, he returned to New Orleans and immediately began business, as a member of the firm of Townsend & Lyman, Bankers and Brokers.

He was married in Christ Church, New Orleans, April 26, 1865, to Mary Adelia Campbell, daughter of Isabella and William Campbell of New Orleans.

A daughter, Lillian Townsend Lyman, was born March 17, 1867.

A son, Charles Wood Lyman, was born November, 25, 1868.

A son, William Campbell Lyman, was born May 21, 1871.

While on a visit to Boston, in 1868, Lyman wrote a letter, under date of July 23d, containing a brief account of his life since leaving Harvard, from which the above sketch has been prepared. He begins the letter alluded to as follows:—

“Regretting both the cause and effect of my separation from the class so early in its history, and feeling to rivet more securely the slender link which binds me to its record, I desire to leave for the information of its members, some memoranda of past and present whereabouts. Although differing radically in opinions from the majority of the class, I would have them feel that those differences were honest ones, and have in no measure diminished my interest in or for the class or its individual members. It would give me much pleasure ever to meet and entertain at my home in New Orleans, any of '64, and I shall hope to see many of them there."

Since 1867, he has remained in New Orleans, as a partner in the firm of Townsend & Lyman, Bankers and Brokers.

JOHN EDGAR McELRATH. He continued the practice of law in Cleveland, Penn., till June 23, 1869, when he moved to San Francisco, where he opened an office as attorney at law.

CHARLES MACKIN. He was appointed Assistant Surgeon in the U. S. Army, May 14, 1867. Having served five years, he now holds the rank of Captain.

RICHARD JONES MECONKEY. He is still engaged in farming; his health, when last heard from, was constantly but slowly improving.

*HENRY JOHNS POMEROY. While absent in Havana, on business, he received a sunstroke. Immediately afterwards he sailed for home, but died April 9, 1868, soon after reaching New York.

THOMAS PIERPONT SHAW. Having completed his studies as a student in the Harvard Law School, he received the degree of LL.B. in 1867. He is at present practising law in New York.

HENRY ROBINSON STANFIELD. Nothing has been heard from him since 1863.

*FRANCIS DANA STEDMAN. He continued in the Machinery Commission business till his death, which occurred in Boston, March 30, 1868, from inflammation of the bowels.

HAZARD STEVENS. He remained in Wallula, Washington Territory, from March, 1866, to November, 1867, as agent of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company. From January to June, 1868, he was mail contractor on Dalles—Canyon City Mail Route. He was then appointed Collector of United States Internal Revenue for Washington Territory, with headquarters at Olympia. This position he has held since May, 1868. He was admitted to the Bar at Olympia, September, 1870. He is in the service of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company as Attorney.

In August, 1870, he and Mr. P. B. Van Trump ascended Mount Rainico, being the first and (up to the present date) only persons who have ever succeeded in making the ascent.

*ANSON GRANDCELO THURSTON. He died at Franklin, Va., May 17, 1863. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

CHARLES HENRY WARREN. He still remains in Manilla, as clerk in the house of Russell & Sturgis.

*GEORGE WASHINGTON. He died in Virginia, July 4, 1864. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

*ANDERSON WATKINS. He died at Atlanta, Ga., July 21, 1864. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

HENRY RODNEY WILSON. Nothing has ever been heard from him since he left the class at the close of the Freshman year.

CLASS CIRCULAR.

The Class Circular, under date of May 1st, 1871, was sent to all the surviving members of the Class, except C. L. Howe, whose address could not be ascertained in time. Answers were received from all the graduates except Owen; and from all the non-graduates except Black, E. R. Blanchard, Bullard, Francis, Hawley, Livermore, Lockwood, Mackin, Meconkey, Shaw, Stanfield and Wilson.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS.

FIRST CLASS SUPPER.

July 16, 1867. The first Supper since graduation took place at the Parker House, at eight o'clock. Present:—Appleton, Beckwith, Brackett, Butler, Cilley, Cogswell, Coxe, Crocker, Cummings, Cutter, Dorr, Eldridge, Elliot, Emery, Fernald, Fisk, Fitz, Flagg, Gorham, Hagar, Horton, Johnson, Lawrence, Merriam, Morris, Munroe, Parker, Read, Richardson, Robins, Seaver, Sinclair, Sprague, Stedman, Walley, Waterman, Wildes. 37.

Richardson presided. A blessing was asked by Parker. The first toast to our "Alma Mater," was responded to by Seaver. An Ode, written by Brackett for the occasion, was then sung. Read acted as Chorister. "The class of 1864," was the second toast, and was responded to by Coxe. After the class song had been sung, the toast, "The Non-Graduates of the Class" was responded to by Cogswell; "The Bachelors" was replied to by Horton; "Professional Men," by Elliot; "Business Men," by Wildes; "Soldiers of the Class," by Eldridge. Various songs and impromptu speeches were made by those whom the spirit moved to sing or speak; and at a late hour the meeting broke up.

EIGHTH MEETING.

July 17, 1867. Hollis 8 was secured for the use of the members of the class and their friends, and, through the kindness of Cummings, Hollis 7 was also placed at the service of the class. The usual refreshments were provided. The annual meeting was held at 12. Lincoln presided. Present:—Appleton, Beckwith, Binney, Bixby, Brackett, Braman, Butler, Chaloner, Chase, Cilley, Cogswell, Coxe, Crocker, Cummings, Dean, Dorr, Eldridge, Elliot, Emery, Fabens, Fernald, Fisk, Fitz, Goddard, Gorham, Gove, Hagar, Horne, Horton, Huntington, Johnson, Lawrence, Lincoln, Merriam, Morris, Munroe, Olney, Parker, Perkins, Pierce, Read, Reed, Richardson, Robeson, Seaver, Sedgwick, Sinclair, Sprague, Walley, Waterman, Wildes.—51. The Secretary's report of the last meeting was read and accepted. The Secretary then presented his printed triennial Report, which was distributed among the members.

On a motion of Horton, a vote of thanks was passed to the Secretary for the efficient manner in which he had managed the affairs of the class during the past three years. The class then joined in singing the class song under the direction of Read, who acted as Chorister in the absence of Bellows.

Adjourned.

NINTH MEETING.

December 28, 1867. The Class met at the Parker House at 4 o'clock. Present:—Bixby, Crocker, Cummings, Hagar, Kennedy, Munroe, Pierce, Sinclair, Sprague. 9.

Cummings presided. The death of Odell was announced by the Chairman, who also gave some account of his last sickness. Cummings, Munroe and Pierce were appointed as the Committee on Resolutions. [See page 25.]

Adjourned.

TENTH MEETING.

January 27, 1868. The Class met at 13 Bulfinch Street, at 4 o'clock. Present:—Dorr, Horton, Kennedy, Pierce, Read, Sedgwick, Sprague. 7.

Pierce presided. The Acting Class Secretary (Sprague) announced the death of Davis. Further particulars in reference to his death were given by Horton. A Committee on Resolutions was appointed, consisting of Horton, Sedgwick and Read. [See page 14.]

Adjourned.

ELEVENTH MEETING.

July 15, 1868. Hollis 8 and, through the kindness of Cummings, Hollis 7 were open to the class. The usual refreshments were provided.

The annual meeting was held at 12 o'clock. Present,—Abbot, Appleton, Atwood, Beckwith, Bixby, Brackett, Butler, Codman, Cogswell, Couch, Crocker, Cutter, Dorr, Eldridge, Elliot, Emery, Fabens, Fitz, Flagg, Goddard, Gorham, Gove, Graves, Greenough, Hagar, Horton, Kennedy, McFadon, Merriam, Munroe, Neal, Read, Robeson, Seaver, Sedgwick, Sinclair, Sprague, Walley, Waterman. 39.

Appleton presided. The Report of the last meeting was read and accepted. The acting Secretary presented a financial statement, and also made a short annual report concerning members of the class. The class song was then sung.

Adjourned.

TWELFTH MEETING.

August 29, 1868. The class met at Crocker's Office, 19 Court street, at 12 o'clock. Present,—Barrett, Crocker, Eldridge, Goddard, Horton, Kennedy, Sinclair, Sprague, Waterman. 9.

Crocker presided. The Acting Secretary announced the death of Braman, and Goddard gave some account of his assassination. Waterman, Goddard and Sinclair were appointed a Committee on Resolutions. [See page 10.]

Adjourned.

THIRTEENTH MEETING.

February 6, 1869. The Class met at Crocker's Office, 19 Court street, at 3½ o'clock. Present,—Bixby, Emery, French, Gorham, Huntington, Kennedy, Robins, Sprague. 8.

Kennedy presided. The Acting Class Secretary announced the death of Huidekoper. A Committee on Resolutions was appointed, consisting of Emery, Seaver and Blanchard. [See page 22.]

On motion of Emery, it was voted that a Committee of five be appointed to request the Faculty in the name of the Class to confer the degree of Bachelor of Arts on Charles W. Fox at the next Commencement. The Committee were given full powers as to the manner in which they should proceed. Emery, Gorham, Huntington, Read and Kennedy were appointed as the Committee.

Adjourned.

FOURTEENTH MEETING.

March 20, 1869. A meeting of the Class was held at Crocker's office, 19 Court Street, at 3 1-2 o'clock. Present, Beckwith, Crocker, Cummings, Dorr, Fabens, Fernald, Hildreth, Sprague. 8.

Crocker presided. The death of Lawrence was announced by the Chairman. Beckwith, Hildreth and Crocker were appointed the Committee on Resolutions. [See page 23.]

Adjourned.

FIFTEENTH MEETING.

June 29, 1869. Hollis 7 and, through the kindness of Cummings, Hollis 8 were secured for the use of the class. The usual refreshments were provided.

The annual meeting was held at 12½ o'clock. Present,—Appleton, Barrett, Bixby, Blanchard, Butler, Chandler, Cogswell, Couch, Crocker, Cutter, Dorr, Eldridge, Elliot, Emery, Fox, Gorham, Gorman, Greenough, Hagar, Howe, E. R., Kennedy, Lilly, McFadon, Merriam, Munroe, Pierce, Read, Robeson, Robins, Seaver, Sedgwick, Sinclair, Sprague, Walley, Washburn, Waterman. 36.

Greenough presided. The report of the last meeting was read and accepted. The Acting Class Secretary then presented his annual statement of the condition of the Class Fund, and gave also a brief account of the changes which had occurred among the members the past year. A motion to dispense with the Class Supper in 1870 was lost, as was also a motion instructing the Class Committee to provide cigars on Commencement Days.

The Class Song was sung, and the meeting adjourned.

SECOND CLASS SUPPER.

June 27, 1870. The Second Triennial Supper took place at the Revere House. The Class met at half past seven, and at eight o'clock the supper-room was thrown open and the Class sat down at the table. Present, — Abbot, Bixby, Chandler, Cogswell, Crocker, Cummings, Dorr, Eldridge, Elliot, Emery, Goddard, Gorham, Gove, Hagar, Horton, Johnson, Kennedy, Merriam, Munroe, Neal, Pierce, Prentiss, Richardson, Robins, Sinclair, Thayer, Ward, Washburn, Waterman, Wildes. 30.

Richardson presided. A blessing was asked by Bixby. After the supper, the toast to "Our Class" was responded to by Coxe. "Our Alma Mater" was followed by the Class Song. "The Ministers" were represented in a speech by Bixby; "The Lawyers" by Eldridge; "The New York Bar," by Gove; "The Doctors," by Waterman; "The Business Men," by Prentiss; "The Married Men," by Dorr; "The Bachelors," by Crocker; "The Absent Ones," by Horton and Johnson; "The First Scholar," by Pierce; "The New Members," by Cogswell; "The Class Committee," by Kennedy.

Besides the speeches, various songs were sung by Dorr, Elliot, Horton, Sinclair, Waterman and Wildes; the last named acting as Chorister in place of Bellows, who was unavoidably absent. The Ode sung on the occasion was written by Coxe. About midnight the Class separated.

SIXTEENTH MEETING.

June 28, 1870. Hollis 24 and, through the kindness of Appleton, Hollis 21 were open for the use of the class. The usual refreshments were provided. The business meeting was held at 12 o'clock. Present, — Abbot, Appleton, Barrett, Beckwith, Bixby, Blanchard, Butler, Cogswell, Couch, Crocker, Cummings, Cutter, Dorr, Eldridge, Elliot, Emery, Goddard, Gorham, Gove, Greenough, Hagar, Horton, Huntington, Johnson, Kennedy, Merriam, Munroe, Page, Perkins, Pierce, Prentiss, Richardson, Robins, Seaver, Sinclair, Ward, Washburn, Waterman, Wildes. 39.

Gove presided. The Secretary's Report of the last meeting was read and accepted. The annual report of the Secretary was also presented.

On motion of Waterman, seconded by Richardson, it was unanimously voted — "That the thanks of the Class be presented to Sprague, for the fidelity and care with which he has filled the office and discharged all the duties of Class Secretary pro tem, during a period of more than two years."

Also, — "That the thanks of the Class be presented to Crocker, for the faithfulness with which he performed all the various duties devolving upon him, as a member pro tem of the Class Committee, during a period of more than two years."

On motion of Gove, seconded by Wildes, a vote of welcome was passed to Richardson on his return to the position of Class Secretary.

The Class joined in singing the Class Song under the leadership of Wildes, after which the meeting adjourned.

ALUMNI HALL.

The Committee of the Alumni, who had in charge the erection of an Alumni Hall, having voted to proceed with the work at once, the special Committee of the Class met and voted to transfer to the Treasurer of the Building Committee, the amount of our subscription. In accordance with this vote the Class Secretary paid to Col. Lee, January 7, 1870, one thousand one hundred and eighty dollars ($1,180.00), the amount of our subscription being one thousand dollars, and the interest on the same for three years being one hundred and eighty dollars.

CLASS FUND.

The Class Fund, a financial statement of which is given on the next page, amounts to $2,792.00. All the members of the Class now living are subscribers to this fund, with the exception of fifteen. There are of course many expenses, which the Class incurs during the course of a year, which the income of this fund enables the Class Committee to meet without being obliged every Commencement to beg of the members, who may be present at the annual meeting, for a larger or smaller amount to meet the running expenses of the Class. These expenses include the cost of the Class Suppers, refreshments furnished on Commencement Days, printing the Class Reports, advertising Class meetings, etc. It is the wish of the Committee that this Fund may be raised to Three Thousand Dollars, the income arising from which would probably be sufficient to pay all the expenses above alluded to. To raise the sum desired, an additional subscription of two hundred and eight dollars is needed. If those members of the Class who have not yet subscribed will do so at once, and those who, having already subscribed, yet feel able and willing to increase their subscription, no matter by how trifling an amount, the sum asked for will soon be raised. Subscriptions may be sent to either of the Committee.
